

I have not been in favor of media consolidation since it began in earnest a decade ago.

And now, Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to aggressively advertise their political agenda is a clear example of the damage of media consolidation.

I hope the FCC's enforcement of Sinclair's obligation to serve the public interest is as committed as its enforcement in other areas such as indecency.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. And they show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard, and cross-ownership limits must be upheld.

Thank you for your attention to this matter for the public good.

Thank you.
